

Elizabeth Tolliver is a recent graduate from the doctoral Counselor Education and Supervision program at the University of Northern Colorado. Having recently moved to Omaha, she and her family have quickly settled into the openness, and genuine nature of the community. Working with students as an instructor and supervisor is when she feels most like her "most authentic self." She takes her role as an advocate for the marginalized with the utmost respect and honor.